GOOD NEWS FOR EVERY ONE!

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER. IF YOU DEsire to preserve your health, a knowledge of the laws for its preservation is essential. If you are ill, and have sought in vain for renewed health, what is the reason? Simply this, a want information on the subject. The civilisation of the present day renders some aid to nature in the preservation and restoration of health indispensably necessary; and the only question is, whence is the required help to be obtained? Undoubtedly, by using Kaye's Worsdell's Vegetable Restorative Pills.
For the last thirty years the truth has been gaining ground that to purify the blood is the simplest and most natural way of restoring and maintaining health; and the great and distinguishing feature of these celebrated pills is, that they speedily eradicate all disease from the body, by purifying the blood; thus good health is at once secured, and all may ensure a sound constitution and complete freedom from pain and disease.
The pamphlet enclosed with each box of the pills gives most interesting particulars of many hundreds of cases of cure, together with instructions for the use of the medicine.

KAYE'S WORSDELL'S PILLS,

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNES
Chlorodyne.
CHOLERA, DYSENTERY, DIARRHŒA, CRAMP, AGUE, FEVER, RHEUMATISM, CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, COUGH, &c.

ALL PAIN, VOMITING AND DISTRESS ceases in a few minutes after taking a dose of that wonderful SEDATIVE ANODYNE and ANTISPASMODIC remedy discovered by Dr J Collis Browne M.R.C.S.L., (ex-Army Med Staff) the recipe of which was confided solely to J. T. Davenport, 33 Great Russell street, Bloomsbury-square, London (Pharmaceutical Chemist). The medical testimony of civil, hospital, military and naval practitioners pronounces it INVALUABLE. It relieves pain of any kind, soothes the restlessness of fever, and imparts the most refreshing sleep, without producing or leaving any of the unpleasant effects of opium.
As a proof of its efficacy, a few extracts from numerous Testimonials by Physicians and Surgeons are given:
From W. Vesalius Pettigrew, M D., Hon. F.R.C.S., England, formerly Lecturer upon Anatomy and Physiology at St. George's School of Medicine: "I have used it in Consumption, Asthma, Diarrhœa and other diseases, and am most perfectly satisfied with the results."
Dr. Gibbon, Army Medical Staff, Calcutta: "Two doses completely cured me of Diarrhœa."
From C. V Ridout, Esq., Surgeon, Egham: "As an astringent in severe Diarrhœa and an antispasmodic in Colic and Cramps in the Abdomen, the relief is instantaneous."
Extracts from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera.
1st Stage of Premonitory—In this stage the remedy acts as a charm one dose generally sufficient.
2nd Stage, or that of Vomiting and Purging—In this stage the remedy possesses great power, more than any other we are acquainted with, two or three doses being sufficient.
3rd Stage, or Collapse—In all cases restoring the pulse. So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of using it in all cases.
From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay: "Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma and Dysentery." To it I fairly owe my restoration to health after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when all other medicines had failed."
CAUTION.—In consequence of the extraordinary efficacy of this remedy, several unprincipled parties have been induced to vend imitations. Never be tempted to buy Chlorodyne, except in sealed bottles, having the Government stamp, with the words "Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" engraved thereon. A sheet full of medical testimonials accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. DAVENPORT 33 Great Russell street, Bloomsbury, London. Sold in bottles, 2s 9d and 4s 6d. ju24w1y

The superiority of the accommodation and entertainment on board the Royal Mail Steamers, together with the time occupied on the passage between England and Aspinwall direct being so much shorter than by any other route, and the moderate rate of passage money, render this Company's steamers the CHEAPEST AND MOST EXPEDITIOUS MEANS OF TRANSIT, for passengers or for the forwarding of Goods and Treasure from Aspinwall to Europe.

THE "BRITISH COLUMBIAN" ON COAST ROUTES.

We are glad to perceive our cotemporary of New Westminster is beginning to occupy a somewhat more reasonable position in reference to the different lines of travel to the interior of that Colony, whether actual or projected. It evidently perceives that the barking policy cannot much longer be maintained. However anxious those holding town lots in its particular locality may be that everything destined for the upper country should pass through there, their wish will at most be only partially gratified. So sure as it is that trade will always seek the shortest and most direct routes, just so surely will any attempt to monopolize it for any route not having that qualification fail, though supported by even government influence. If the Government commits itself to one line of road through an idea that it is the best, even though that should prove to be a mistaken one, and has gone to great expense, and incurred heavy liabilities in preparing that line for travel, it is quite natural that they should desire to see it used, and should endeavor to have it pay the cost of its construction. While anxious for this, however, they have no right to prevent the building up of other roads. They have no right to say to the people of British Columbia we have constructed a main road leading to the mines for your use, and no other shall be built till that is paid for. Nothing can justify the Government in any policy that would have the tendency to make provisions in the mines dearer than they ought to be. Their policy should be the very opposite of this. If they are not able to construct roads themselves that would have the tendency, by creating a healthy competition, of keeping freight as low as possible, they should afford every encouragement to private parties who are willing to enter into such undertakings. They should look upon every new road as one of the greatest benefits that could be conferred upon the country.

If British Columbia is ever to have her resources known and properly developed it is only through having a good system of roads rendering all parts of the country easily accessible. This is not to be done by attempting to sneer down every enterprise that would have the slightest tendency to divide any of the up-country traffic with the New Westminster route. It is not by conjuring up imaginary dangers of navigation along every part of the coast but the mouth of the Fraser, nor by endeavoring to prevent capitalists from embarking their money in companies for the construction of coast routes, that British Columbia is to be built up. That this course has been followed no one can deny. It is only because its inutility is seen that it has in any way ceased. The coast routes will go on in spite of every opposition, direct or indirect. The British Columbian says that—"To all agitation from outsiders about coast routes, our Government should uniformly lend a deaf ear. To all appeal for material aid to construct such roads Government should, under present circumstances, give flat denial. Against outsiders building roads from Bentinck, Bute, or any other Inlet on our coast we have not the slightest objection provided they build them out of their own means and without conditions which would give them undue and unfair advantages over those who have invested their means in existing roads. The more roads we have the better, and the cheaper the necessaries of life can be made in the interior of the colony the larger percentage of our population will remain in it." Now we are not aware that the British Columbian Government has been asked for any "material aid," if by such is meant government money, for the construction of either of the proposed coast routes. Nor do we consider that in the present state of their finances the government would be quite justified in going in debt for such a purpose, good though it may be. Consequently there need be no objection to coast routes on this score. Those who are interested in them will no doubt build them with their own capital.

We are at a loss however to conceive what our contemporary means by suffering coast route companies to build their roads "without conditions which would give them undue and unfair advantages over those who have invested their means in existing roads." The only conditions we can see likely to affect existing roads are such as would have some reference to the tolls charged; that would for instance prevent as high a rate being taken on the coast routes as on the central road, and thus divert trade to some extent from the latter. But would this be a benefit or an injury to the people of British Columbia? Would it not evidently have the effect of making goods cheaper—of keeping down the price of provisions and thus enabling the mines to be worked to greater advantage? The country would thus be populated and all the roads pay well. We shall not attempt to follow our contemporary through his endeavours to throw cold water upon the capabilities of Bute Inlet as an entrance to British Columbia. We prefer to take the opinion of nautical men. On such matters it is too apt to be affected with something similar to colour blindness. There seems to be peculiar quality in the climate of New Wertminster which disposes some at least of its inhabitants to look upon themselves in the light of Celestials, and all others as foreign barbarians. Their hamlet is the Flowery Kingdom. All conceivable advantages, material and artificial, are theirs. The rest of the world is a mere circumstance. The Fraser theretore is the Father of Waters. Victoria Harbor and the Homathco are shallow, narrow tortuous rivulets. It's only the grip Victorians retain upon "our trade" that prevents the noble Fraser being so thickly covered with shipping as to render invisible his bottom of verdant mud.

Police Court.

Before A. F. Pemberton, Esq.

WEDNESDAY, May 7th, 1863.

TRADES LICENSES.

Thos. Fordham appeared, and having satisfied the court that he had taken out a License, was ordered to pay costs of summons.

Messrs. Cook & Cranston and Chs. Breban, were called, but not appearing and the Sheriff not being present to prosecute, the magistrate adjourned these cases until this morning.

AN AMUSING CASE.

Alleugnla Jirkol, a single German woman, residing on Store street, charged Thos. Davis with having created a disturbance in her house and breaking sundry household property and effects to the value of $50.

Mr. Bishop for the prosecutor.

Mr. Dennes for the defendant.

It appeared from the evidence of the complainant and another female companion that the defendant had entered her dwelling between 9 and 10 o'clock on Wednesday evening, and commenced creating a disturbance, breaking tables, chairs, and windows.

Upon cross-examination the complainant stated that she was a "single female." She had not invited defendant to her house nor called any other man in. She called her own cook to her assistance; he did not take up a poker or strike defendant. There was no fight.

The court here adjourned for half an hour to enable the prosecutor to procure the attendance of the cook whose evidence was essential.

Henry Muller, sworn—I am cook in de employ of the lady, you know.

Mr. Bishop—No we don't know, we want you to tell us.

The magistrate—State what you know about this case.

Witness—I was in de house where the lady live, where the tumult was, and de man was in de house, you know. I don't know de man. I never see him before until I see him now for de first time. The ladies try to put him out but he make much noise and brake the tings, you know; she call to me and he say he brake her de neck first before she put him out, you know. De door was lock so nobody can come in, you know. I see tree or four mans outside by de door.

The magistrate—You say the door was locked, so how did the man come in?

Witness—He was come in you know (laughter). I speak so good English as I can. (Laughter.) Witness then gave an incoherent statement.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dennes—

I had no stick in my hand. We don't have not no pokers. I catch him by de hair you know, like dis, (offering to repeat the act upon the defendant). [Laughter]. I never try to gouge his eye out; he got a mark on de face, and havn,t I got a mark too? [Laughter]. De lady hollo, and say dere is a bad man I must come to help. I hold him by de hair and he trow me down. I hold him so long till peoples come from street. He trow de two womens on de floor; de one lady was lay in dis corner and de oder was in de oder corner.

Officer Levy deposed that about 12 o'clock he heard a noise on Store street, went there and saw Davis deliberately raise his foot and break three panes of glass and the sash. The value was probably $2 50.

Mr. Dennes stated the defendant admitted breaking the glass outside. He should now apply for a summons against Muller for assaulting his client.

Mr. Bishop—And I shall apply for a summons against your client for the assault upon these two women.

Mr. Pemberton—This appears to have been a violent and wanton outrage on the part of this man. I therefore fine him £5, and in default, sentence him to two months hard labor.

Mr. Dennes' application was refused.

THE INDIAN MURDERS.

The five Indian prisoners who were had up on a previous occasion and remanded, were again placed in the dock. John Heale the Texan who was with Brady when he was shot, and who was himself wounded in three places, was conveyed from the Hospital in a buggy and sworn. Heale, although evidently suffering much, was just able to walk into the court. His information was read over to him and confirmed, and he then proceeded to add:

I hear one man present call himself Thalaston alias Kaisue. I saw him about two or three steps away from me when I came out of the tent, after the first two shots were fired. He is the boy I described as a little undershot. I hear another prisoner call himself Oalatza, alias Swane-a-hya, he is the one with the glass eye. I can also identify him as having been present during the firing. I hear another prisoner call himself Stalehum; I am sure he was also one of the number. I described him with a long face, and having thick lips. The old woman calling herself Thask was also with them. There were two squaws who had hold of me; the other was a young girl. I know the prisoner Whisk. He was not present, and is a good man as far as I know. The four I have named were all present at the murder of Brady, as described in my information.

The coat and boot produced belonged to Brady. The two caps produced belonged to the Indians; they left them in the camp, and they were there when I left.

The information which was taken before A. F. Pemberton, Esq., on the 20th day of April last, is as follows:

Last Saturday about 2 o'clock in the afternoon I encamped on a little island about three or four miles from Salt Spring Island. It is a long narrow island with high mountains in the middle. I was accompanied by a man named Bill Brady. I went to hunt and returned about half an hour after dark. In the meantime five Indians had arrived—three men and two women. We had supper—then Brady cooked some bacon and made some tea for the Indians—he gave them two cakes of bread and about half a cup of sugar. We then went to sleep—the Indians also lay down close to our tent. About an hour after we had been asleep I was awakened by shots fired. There were four shots fired—three at me and one at Brady. The first hit me in the thigh, the next shot hit me in the arm, a third shot hit me in the groin. Brady had his thigh shattered by one shot and he was not able to move afterwards. After I was wounded I got my rifle gun and fired several shots, perhaps half a dozen, I don't remember how many I was so much excited. The Indians retreated, and I saw a party which I took to be the same, leave the island the second day after this occurred. We did not leave because it rained so hard. I started on the morning of the fourth day in a boat by myself, and I reached Oak Bay about 2 o'clock the same day, traveling with the tide. A policeman fetched me from Mr. Tod's house at Oak Bay to the Hospital. One of the Indians had a glass eye—that is the ball of the eye was white. He was about sixteen years of age. One had large projecting lips; third one is a well looking boy, but his teeth were a little undershot. None of these men were older than about 16 years. I have seen the undershot boy at Cowichan; he was present when Brady and I went to buy a whaleboat at Victoria.

The boy was one who shot at me; one of the women was an old woman full of wrinkles; she might be 40 years of age; the other woman was a well looking girl about 16 years of age, with long black hair reaching down to her waist, and thin small lips with good pretty teeth. Brady was raised in the States; he had been round here since 1848. He has been hunting this winter with me; we had intended to have cut hay on the Island on which we landed. The Indians told us they came from Cowichan. Brady was not a whisky seller to Indians; we had no spirits with us and were not in the habit of carrying spirits with us. I am a half breed Cherokee, born and raised in Texas. I came to Victoria last fall.

Vice Admiralty Court.

This court sat yesterday morning for a further hearing of the "Rosedale" Salvage Suit.

Mr. Ring (with him Mr. McCreight) counsel for the salvors.

Mr. Cary (with him Mr. Wood). for the owners of the ship.

The opening was resumed by Mr. McCreight, who commented largely upon the affidavits made on behalf of the owners, and contended that this was a clear case of salvage.

Mr. Cary then opened his case, after which Mr. Ring will have the general reply upon the whole case.

The court was adjourned to 10 o'clock this morning.

MR JOHN WOOD'S BENEFIT.—This evening the talented comedian Mr. John Wood will appear as a beneficiary at the Victoria Theatre. The entertainment, which is to be under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor, will commence with Dance's beautiful comedy in two acts entitled "Naval Engagements," to be followed by a Musical Olio, in which Bob Ridley, a celebrated banjo player, will appear; concluding with the highly amusing farce of the "Lottery Ticket," in which Mr. Wood will assume his favorite character of Wormwood, the lawyer's clerk. We would again urge upon all who wish to enjoy a rare treat (probably the last for some time to come) to lose no time in securing their places, as we are told that the playgoing public purpose turning out en masse to support their old favorite.

"GOOD NEWS FROM HOME."—We have it upon perfectly reliable authority that the Bank of British Columbia in London had disposed of £30,000 out of the £50.000 British Columbia Loan, at and above a premium of 4 per cent. Considering the many conflicting accounts which have recently reached England, and the present youthful condition of the colony, the debentures may be said to have met with a most favorable reception. We learn further that the Home Government have given their sanction to another £50,000 Loan being raised by the Colonial Government, bearing the same rate of interest, viz.: 6 per cent. per annum. Query:—How will all this money be spent.

WIDE-A WAKE.—A person applying for letters after the arrival of the last mail, enquired of one of the sorters inside, if there was anything for W——. Are there any more W's outside? asked the assistant. Wake! said an impatient bystander. The unsuspecting employe glanced quickly through the missives, and blandly replied "Nothing for Wake."

THE MARKS FAMILY.—The ladies who so promptly and kindly came forward to solicit contributions on behalf of the destitute family of the late Mr. Marks, have succeeded beyond expectation. Almost every one appealed to opened their hearts and their pockets without demur, and the consequence is that a handsome sum has already been realized.

LOW TIDE.—Yesterday morning the tide was unusually low in our harbor, and the channel between Hospital Point and St. Ours' Wharf was fordable for a considerable distance from the opposite bank. The Forward ran aground in the Outer Harbor while endeavoring to enter, but floated off soon after.

TIGER ENGINE CO.—The boys of the Tiger Engine Company brought their Fire Engine and hose last evening to the Reservoir at the corner of Government and Yates street for practice. The apparatus was in good working order, and a copious stream of the quenching element was thrown by it a great distance.

Marriage of the Prince of Wales to the Princess Alexandra, of Denmark.

THE BRICKLAYERS' ARMS STATION.

This Station being the point at which the Princess was to commence her public entry into the capital of her adopted country, the preparations made there for her reception were upon a scale of magnificence worthy of so interesting an occasion. The day before, painters, florists, upholsterers, and a whole army of workpeople had possession of the station, and, under the superintendence of the architect of the company, succeeded in converting it, in spite of many difficulties, into a perfect triumph of decorative art. Both the interior and exterior of the station, were dressed in the gayest holiday fashion. Acres of laurel, abor vitæ, yew, and holly, profusely interspersed with red and white roses, were entwined with the rafters and tie beams of the roof, the zigzag arrangement adopted producing all the effect of a gigantic and beautiful bower of trellised work. At the upper end of the platform, and facing the chief reception room, tiers of sloping benches, covered with crimson and outlined with green tion of 700 persons, while within the principal reception room itself several rows of raised seats were provided for the wives and daughters of the directors and other highly privileged spectators. Adjoining this apartment was a similar saloon specially decorated and furnished by the Messrs. Gillow, of Oxford street. Here the Royal party was to partake of a dejeuner, supplied by the direction of the railway company, by the Messrs. Staples, of the Albion Hotel. The table, of English pollard oak, richly carved, was elegantly laid with covers for 24, and ornamented with epergnes and frosted silver vases, filled with rare exotics. Fine bronzes in oxydised silver and ormolu surmounted the mantelpiece, and round the room were placed busts of the Queen, the Princess Alexandra, the Prince of Wales, and other members of the Royal Family. Communicating with this saloon by a portiere of maroon and gold tapestry, on the banner of which the monogram of the Princess was embroidered, was another apartment splendidly decorated and furnished as a boudoir for her Royal Highness. The suite was of walnut wood, inlaid with marqueterie, mounted with ormolu, and covered with geranium-colored satin, the drapery of richest lace, and all the other accessories equally princely.

The courtyard of the station had undergone a pleasing transformation corresponding with the interior.

Shortly before 11 o'clock his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and his suite, drove up to the Bricklayers' Arms Station, in order to take the train for Gravesend. Though his Royal Highness came in a comparatively private manner, he was instantly recognised by the concourse which had long before begun to assemble in the quadrangle and inner galleries, and was warmly cheered. He was met by the directors, who escorted him to the Royal train. Mr. Eborall and Mr. Teulon travelled in the train, both on the down and up journey, and Mr. Cudworth, locomotive superintendent had charge of the train.

The galleries on the platform and in the reception-room were rapidly filled, mostly with ladies, elegantly dressed, and all wearing red and white 'favours.' Mr. Layard and Mr. Locke, the members for the borough, were the first to appear on the scene. They were followed by Lord Lovelace, the Lord-Lieutenant of Surrey, and Messrs. Locke King, Alcock, Cubitt, and Briscoe, the county members. Then Sir George Grey speedily arrived. The equipages of the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs came next. Mr. Gresham, the High Bailiff of Southwark, was likewise among the early comers. By this time the troops by whom the courtyard was to be kept had taken up their position on the ground. At 10 minutes past 1 his Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge arrived, attended by Colonel Tyrwhit and Colonel Clifton, his aides-de-camp. His Royal Highness wore the uniform of a Field Marshal, with the blue riband of the Garter. The hour fixed for the arrival of the illustrious party from Gravesend was now drawing near, and the brilliant company who had assembled paraded the platform in eager watchfulness. At 28 minutes after 1 the train was telegraphed as having passed Woolwich; a little later it was signalled from Forest Hill. The company now strained their eyes to catch the first glimpse of its approach; the railway officials bustled about with those significant looks and gestures that never deceive the earnest watcher; and at about twenty minutes to 2, when expectation was all on tiptoe, the train appeared. As it drove slowly up to the middle of the platform a thrill of pleasant excitement ran through the entire throng, everyone standing up uncovered to see the Prince alight with his bride. This was the signal for a hearty burst of cheers, and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, in the midst of which the Prince led the Princess, leaning on his arm, and radiant with youthful smiles and innocent gratification, in front of the large gallery, walking with her into the main reception room. The youthful pair bowed graciously and repeatedly in response to the warm greeting accorded them as they passed; and at the same instant Mr. J. Meller, the director in charge of the station, conducted the Hon. Mrs. Byng, the wife of the chairman, to present the Princess Alexandra with a magnificent bouquet of flowers—all fresh. This her Royal Highness accepted with another graceful bow and winning smile which gained the hearts of all. On her entrance into the reception-room the fervent greeting she had met with was again and again renewed. The Prince then escorted her to the refreshment saloon, where they were shortly joined by the other members of the illustrious party.

The luncheon was rather hurriedly served, and congratulatory addresses were then presented, the ceremony of reading them being waived.

The gracious manners, and the sweet, smiling countenance of the Princess exerted an indefinable fascination over all present; and the result of her brief acquaintance with the first metropolitan assembly gathered to receive her, appeared to establish between the future Queen and her subjects a friendship and perfect understanding at first sight. On the other hand, the frank, manly pride evinced by the Heir apparent in first publicly presenting his youthful bride in London, manifestly strengthened the prepossession of every one who witnessed it in his favor.

Her Royal Highness wore a white bonnet, a purple velvet cloak, trimmed with sable fur, and a silver-gray silk dress. The Prince was in plain morning dress.

THE CITY OF LONDON.

London-bridge presented an appearance wholly novel in the manner of its ornamentation. Out of compliment to the nation of the Princess, the parapets were ornamented with the statues of the Kings of Denmark from the earliest period, including the present reigning sovereign, affixed to Danish standards some thirty feet high, and which in turn were surmounted with the gilt figures of ravens and elephants—the national emblems. Between the standards tripods were placed, from which burning incense arose. At the south and north approaches to the bridge elegant pedestals were erected, bearing the statue of Fame, surrounded by Danish warriors holding the "Danebrog," or national flag. In the several recesses along the parapets smaller pedestals were arranged in similar style of ornamentation, producing on the whole a very pleasing effect. On the northern side of Adelaide-place, at the entrance of King William street an imposing triumphal arch, about sixty feet high, and supported by sixteen Corinthian columns, had been constructed, on the south side of which, fronting the Borough, and in the center, immediately over the carriageway, were placed the united arms of England and Denmark, and over the foot ways medallions of the Prince and Princess. The columns were surmounted with the statues of four eminent Danes—Saxo Grammaticus, Hoberg the poet; Thorwaldsen, the sculptor; and Juel, the painter. In the pediment, and in gilt letters, appeared the following lines, slightly adapted from Shakspeare's Tempest:

Honor, riches, marriage, blessing,
Long continuance and increasing;
Hourly joys be still upon you,
England showers her blessings on you.

A painting beneath represented Brittania, surrounded with sea gods and goddesses, escorting the Princess Alexandria to the shores of England. The pediment was surrounded by another representation of Brittania, and on either side recumbent figures of fame heralding the approach of the Princess. A portrait of Queen Victoria within a wreath of laurel, and with a crown above, supported by figures symbolical of Wisdom and Strength, adorned the northern front of the arch. The eight corinthian columns on that side of the trophy supported four statues of Fame, and above the footway the Royal arms of England with those of Denmark were displayed. Every conceivable place commanding a view of the spectacle at that point swarmed with spectators. A squadron of horse artillery with two guns, and a field battery of four guns were placed near King William's statue, facing the bridge. All along King William street, Lombard street, and Cheapside, the houses and public buildings were gaily decorated with banners or festooned with flowers. The corinthian columns of the Mansion house were draped with crimson cloth, and the capitals and windows hung with garlands. On the pillars medallions of the Prince and Princess were displayed in relief, surrounded by wreaths of oak, surmounted by the Prince of Wales' plume. From the windows crimson drapery was suspended with wreaths, in the centre of which were placed alternately the cross of Denmark and the Prince of Wales' feathers. Under the portico, and in a projecting gallery were seats for about 300 invited guests. Prince Frederick of Hesse Cassel and the Duke of Glucksburg, accompanied by Col.

About half past two o'clock the Royal party entered the city by London Bridge, where the Royal Reception Committee of the Corporation, the Masters and Wardens of the principal Livery Companies, a deputation from the Commissioners of Lieutenancy, the Aldermen and Common Council, and the chief officers of the Corporation, all in carriages, or rather such of the civic dignitaries as had been able to force their way there in time from Guildhall through the intervening crowd, awaited the arrival of her Royal Highness. The bridge had been previously cleared by a body of mounted police, assisted by cavalry, and the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs having taken the places assigned them, the pageant moved onward.

By the time the carriage of the Prince of Wales and the Princess had reached about the centre of the bridge the procession was brought to a dead stop by the dense masses of people which had collected in advance of it, and their Royal Highnesses were detained there for nearly half an hour. The cavalcade, having made a fresh start, worked its way with immense difficulty through the crowd towards the Royal Exchange by Adelaide place and King William street, the Prince and Princess being greeted by prolonged and boisterous cheering.

Meanwhile an extraordinary spectacle was being witnessed in front of the Mansion house. In the open space there, where four great thoroughfares and many subsidiary ones all converge, an enormous crowd had collected. Turn in whatever direction it might—up the long vista of Cheapside, on the one hand, or towards Princess street, the esplanade of the Royal Exchange and Cornhill, on the other—it rested on a compact mass of human beings, swayed by one common feeling. Besides the crowd in the streets every window, roof, and balcony commanding a view of that part of the route was thronged with spectators. On the sloping pediment of the Royal Exchange, among the towers of the Bank of England, about the square turret of the little church of St. Mildred, in the Poultry, people swarmed like bees. Others were seated among the hoofs of the Wellington equestrian statue in front of the Royal Exchange, and a few bestrode the horse itself, before and behind the figure of the Duke, with ludicrous effect. The crowd, vast as it was, and at times unmanageable, was remarkably good natured. On the side both of the authorities whose duty it was to maintain order and of the people themselves there was a predominating feeling of forbearance. In the very worst of the pressure and excitement the crowd was always amenable to authority, and the fault certainly did not lie with them that a line for the procession was not kept, and that many helpless people suffered to an extent which at times endangered life and was painful to witness.

ST. PAUL'S AND FLEET STREET.

The next point selected by the Corporation for a manifestation of their munificent loyalty, was at St. Paul's churchyard. In this choice they were justified, not only from the advantages afforded by the place in its possessing features that must almost contribute to the success of any open air spectacle, but also by its being historically associated with many Royal processions and other State ceremonials. The view presented by the vast Cathedral itself as seen by a spectator coming suddenly upon it from Cheapside, is singularly striking, and perhaps the best sight of the building is that from the south side of the Churchyard. Very early however, among the arrangements for the reception of the Princess Alexandra, it was resolved among the various companies and the other sections of the corporate body, that seats to accommodate from 10,000 to 12,000 persons should be erected in St. Paul's Churchyard. That determination was carried out to the full. Mr. Bunning, the city architect, under whose direction they were erected, used scantling of unusually large dimensions in order to save time. A verandah, with a richly painted cornice, projected outwards to some distance, and on the cornice considerable taste and skill were displayed. At intervals of three or four feet it was surmounted by groups of flags, English and Danish flags preponderating; but there were flags of almost every nation under the sun. In front of the cornice all the way round were a succession of large plaster medallions of the Prince and Princess—the two profiles on the same oblong. Between these were a number of orange-blossom wreaths of colossal size, in keeping with the immense structure itself. The appearance of the whole elicited general and deserved admiration; and certainly it formed a splendid addition to the other decorations along the route of the procession.

As early as 12 o'clock the crowd in the churchyard was enormous, and from that time down to the arrival of the procession, the people continued to pour in by the thousand. At two o'clock it was blocked up by a densely-packed mass, such as had never before been seen round St. Paul's.

The appearance of the whole pageant as the procession turned in from Cheapside and defiled round the Cathedral, was truly gorgeous and imposing. Respectful demonstrations were made in favor of the occupants of each of the Royal carriages; but the scene which took place when the personages of the day came in view was one of the most extraordinary in the whole route of their Royal Highnesses. They sung Princess first glanced at the wonderful dome of the stately pile before her, and then looking at the not less marvellous sight prepared for her own especial honor, her Royal Highness became visibly affected, and bowed her acknowledgments with much grace and feeling. Prince Christian stood up in his carriage, and removing his hat, saluted the people repeatedly; and the Princess Louise, to whom the Prince of Wales gave some explanations in reference to this magnificent demonstration, returned the warm greetings of the assembled ladies.

Ludgate hill and Fleet street looked splendid as the procession descended from St. Paul's. There was not much room for outdoor scaffolding in either, but every inch of window and roof room did duty on the occasion, and the display of flags, in Fleet street especially, was not surpassed by that of any other street in London. The bells of St. Bride's and St. Dunstan's rang merry peals. In front of the former church a balcony was erected, and very large stands were placed at each side of St. Dunstan's. The drapery on these bore the inscription 'Welcome Rose of Denmark.' There was a maze of flags and streamers in Fleet street, and the road and footpaths were spanned by garlands innumerable. One large banner was inscribed with 'Welcome to your English Home.' Not a foot of window room was unoccupied in this great highway of metropolitan traffic.

TEMPLE-BAR.

Temple-bar, as everybody knows, stands at the western extremity of Fleet street, and separates the city of London from the city of Westminster. As one of the most conspicuous objects on the route of procession, and as offering peculiar facilities for an effective display, the civic authorities wisely resolved to decorate it in a manner worthy of so joyful an occasion. The result of their labors, if not exactly calculated to suit all tastes, was, at all events, sufficiently striking and gorgeous. Under the superintendence of the City Architect, cunning workmen had succeeded in putting a new face upon an old friend, and succeeded in so altering his whole appearance as to make recognition exceedingly difficult. Who could have detected in the mass of glittering gold and crimson which bestrode Fleet street, the dirty, gray, weather beaten structure, with its heavy stone-work, its time worn statues, and its terrible reminiscences of human heads stuck upon spikes, which is so familiar to us all? The massive gates had been retained and the general outline of the new creation called up a dim recollection of the ancient edifice as it came from the hands of Wren, but there the resemblance ended. From top to bottom all was changed. The lower parts were swathed in colored cloth, decorated with fringes and tassels, so that not an inch of the masonry was visible. Above the center of the middle arch were placed medallion portraits of the Prince and Princess in white stucco; but it would have required an active imagination, backed by no small amount of faith, to trace any likeness to the originals. Broad pieces of cloth of gold, still with metal, were drawn over the body of the structure, and so arranged on either side of the center window as to represent the front of a pavilion. The heavy folds were adorned here and there with two hearts in crimson velvet, bound together with blue ribands and enclosed in a wreath of green leaves.

Meanwhile the authorities of Westminster and Middlesex had quietly assembled in the Strand, near Temple Bar, where, without bustle or confusion, they were marshalled in processional order, so as to be ready to receive the Princess whenever she emerged from the City. At the head of the line thus formed rode the Deputy Lieutenants of Middlesex, twenty in number, in their scarlet coats and cocked hats. The parochial authorities of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields (the Royal parish in which Buckingham Palace, the birth-place of the Prince of Wales is situated) followed in a couple of carriages. Next came a carriage occupied by Sir De Lacy Evans, one of the members for Westminster. Sir John Shelley, the other member, rode by the side of his colleague on a spirited charger; he wore a volunteer uniform. A carriage drawn by four iron grays, with postillions in liveries of blue velvet, was occupied by the rector and churchwardens of St. Clement Danes. Then followed several shabby coaches containing the members of the ancient Court of Burgesses. Close to Temple bar a deputation of the Middlesex magistracy was drawn up on one side of the street. The moment the procession reached Temple Bar the police drew aside, and the next instant it was seen careering along towards St. Clement's Church, in the wake of the Westminster and Middlesex authorities, who by this time had moved off.

The Junction

Is the point at which the Wagon Roads intersect each other, and where the Cariboo-bound traveller by the Yale-Lytton and Douglas-Lillooet routes MUST meet. It will, therefore, be seen by the above figures that the traveller by YALE and LYTTON has

THIRTY-THREE MILES LESS TRAVEL

Than if he went by the Douglas-Lillooet Route.

And conveys her Freight and Passengers to Yale at greatly reduced Rates.

Shippers

Desirous of getting Freight through to Cariboo this season are advised to Shun the Douglas-Lillooet Route!!

☞ And are also referred to the testimony adduced in the CRANFORD CASE, wherein witnesses have stated upon oath that 15, 20, or even 30 Days is a reasonable time to convey Freight from Douglas to Lillooet.

Five Days only are Required

To carry Goods from Yale to Lytton, and

Shippers are Assured

That if Freight is carried from Douglas to Lillooet for Two Cents per lb.,

CARRIERS ARE PREPARED TO

All those who allow themselves to be crammed by Douglasites this year need expect no sympathy from the public if they get broke in trying to get goods through that route.

☞ Remember the Cranford affair, and steer clear of extortion and delays.

Travel the Yale and Lytton Wagon Road to the Cariboo Mines.

☞ New and Commodious Hotels have been erected at convenient distances along the entire length of the Route, where First Class Accommodations for both man and beast are bestowed at moderate rates.

☞ FOR CHEAPNESS, DESPATCH, EASE and SECURITY choose the Yale and Lytton Route in preference to all others in British Columbia.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT

Thirty years of experience has demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt, that JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT excels every other remedy for the cure of ASTHMA,
BRONCHITIS,
CONSUMPTION,
COUGHS AND COLDS,
CROUP AND WHOOPING COUGH,
SPITTING OF BLOOD,
AND ALL PULMONARY COMPLAINTS.

While many other Remedies have been lauded and extolled, and achieved a temporary reputation, JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT has continually increased in popularity until now there is scarcely an inhabitable part of the globe where it is not used and highly appreciated. The following are a few of the many Certificates received:

REV. VALENTINE GRAY, of the Methodist Church, writes from Centerville, Pa.:

Having experienced the beneficial effects of your Family Medicines, I would give it as my opinion that they are the very best I ever had occasion to use, and most cheerfully recommend them to the afflicted. Your EXPECTORANT especially I have found to be a sure cure for COUGHS and COLDS.

Dr. W. W. WINTER, of Milledgeville, Ill., writes:

It is with great pleasure that I can recommend your EXPECTORANT to those suffering from Bronchial Affections, having used it with the most satisfactory results.

Mr. NATHAN PENNYPACKER, of Upper Uwchland, Chester county, Pa., says:

Having been afflicted with ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS, and the treatment of several skillful physicians proving of no avail, I commenced the use of your EXPECTORANT. After taking it for about three months I found myself entirely cured.

Rev. JOHN DOWLING, D. D., Pastor of the Berean Baptist Church, N. Y., writes:

I have long known the virtues of your EXPECTORANT, and frequently tested them on myself and family, when afflicted with COUGHS or COLDS. I believe it to be one of the best remedies ever discovered for these maladies.

Mr. READING DOTY, of Twenty Mile Stand, Warren county, Ohio, says:

Recently I had an attack of ASTHMA, the most distressing of all diseases, and yesterday afternoon, after taking a short ride, I returned home almost unable to breathe. Through the persuasion of my wife I was led to try your EXPECTORANT. The first dose gave instant relief, and after the fourth dose I enjoyed a refreshing sleep, and the next morning arose in better health than for two years past.

Rev. J. J. WALSH, Missionary of the Presb. Board at Futtegurh, Northern India, says:

Your EXPECTORANT was the means under Providence of curing a case of INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, which had been pronounced incurable by competent medical men.

MAURICE SCHWARZ, of Concord, Wis., says:

When the WHOOPING COUGH prevailed to some extent at our place, the disease seemed to baffle our physicians. In various cases the EXPECTORANT was used, and it did not fail to cure.

JOHN NARRIMAN, Esq., of Stewartstown, N. H., writes:

Not long since, a child of mine had a very violent and distressing attack of CROUP, which must have proved fatal had not immediate relief been obtained. I commenced giving your EXPECTORANT, and within three-quarters of an hour the child had taken six teaspoonsful, breathed with perfect ease, a cure within that time having been effected.

Rev. RUFUS BABCOCK, D. D., formerly President of Waterville College, Maine, writes:

For more than a dozen years I have recommended Dr. D. JAYNE'S FAMILY MEDICINES, and especially the EXPECTORANT. I know that these medicines are highly esteemed and frequently prescribed by some of the most respectable of the regular practitioners of medicine; and I do not hesitate to commend them as a valuable addition to our materia medica, and a safe as well as eminently beneficial remedy for the diseased.

DAVID TURNER, of Cassville, Huntington county, Penn., writes:

My son, aged nineteen years, was confined to his bed for three months, his disease being pronounced by the attending physician to be CONSUMPTION. Failing to obtain any relief from the treatment he had been undergoing, I procured for him JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, and through its use he has been entirely restored to health.

Mr. JOHN HENRY, of Burlington, Bradford county, Pennsylvania, says:

For two years, my son was afflicted with a disease resembling CONSUMPTION, and during this period was unable to labor. Being finally induced to try your EXPECTORANT, he was completely cured after taking ten bottles, and he is now able to work every day.

Mr. PRESTON EWING, Laconte, Harrison county, Indiana, writes:

Being afflicted with BRONCHITIS for the space of three years, to such an extent that I was obliged to relinquish the teaching of Vocal Music, and failing to obtain any relief from the physicians whom I consulted, I gave the EXPECTORANT a trial. After using it for a few weeks I was very much relieved; and by its continued use my throat is now entirely clear of any disease.

☞ This EXPECTORANT, and all of DR. D. JAYNE'S FAMILY MEDICINES, are sold by LANGLEY BROS. and CURTIS & MOORE, Victoria, from whom may also be obtained gratis, Jayne's Medical Almanac and Guide to Health 1le

HEALTH FOR A SHILLING.

Holloway's Pills.

Headaches, Bile, Loss of Appetite, and Lowness of Spirits.

These Pills require no interruption of business or pleasure; they act mildly on the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and promote a healthy action of the liver, whereby they purify the blood, cleanse the skin, brace the nerves, and invigorate the whole system. They effect a truly wonderful change in debilitated constitutions, as they create a healthy appetite correct indigestion, remove bile, giddiness, headaches, and palpitation of the heart.

Weakness and Debility.

of debility, languor, and nervousness generated by excess of any kind, whether mental or physical, the effect of these Pills is in the highest degree bracing, renovating and restorative. They drive from the system the morbid cause of disease; re-establish the digestion, regulate all the secretions, brace the nervous system, raise the patient's spirits, and bring back the frame to its pristine health and vigor. They increase the appetite, while they secure perfect digestion to all ordinary food, and release the invalid from restraint in diet.

A Word to Females.

There are two periods, especially in Woman's life, which require for safe passage, judgment and attention. Irregularity is apt at those critical times to take place, and to lay the foundation of future disease. These Pills, safe in action, and effective in result, should be taken at certain periods, and the issue will be marvellous both to the young and the middle aged. They prevent nervousness, hysterics, dropsy, and a host of similar serious disorders, by expelling all impurities from the system, therefore none should ever be without them.

Coughs, Colds, and Asthmas,

No medicine will cure colds so quickly as these Pills, when of long duration or settled on the chest or even though it has assumed the first stage of asthma, they may be relied on as a certain and never failing cure, particularly if the Ointment be well rubbed into the chest and throat night and morning. this catch the eye of any asthmatical person so bad as even not able to lie down in bed, let him well use these two preparations for only a week, and the result will be marvellous.

Blood to the Head--Diseases of the Heart

More persons die suddenly from diseases of the heart than the unlearned suppose: in such complaints, the bowels should always be kept well open, as also where there is a tendency of blood to the head. These celebrated Pills purify the blood in an extraordinary manner, and should be taken in copious doses when such symptoms occur, taking care not to overload the stomach; by this means all danger is quickly averted.

Children's Complaints.

It is not generally known, but such is the fact, that children require medicine oftener than their parents. Three-fourths of the children die before they attain the age of eight years. Let mothers, then, be wise and give to their children small doses of these invaluable Pills once or twice every week, in such quantity as may act gently upon the system twice in the twenty-four hours. For infants, a Pill may be crushed and given as a powder in a little water. The gross humors that are constantly floating about in the blood of children, the forerunners of so many complaints, will thus be expelled, and the lives of thousands saved and preserved to their parents.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:

Ague	Dropsy	Inflammation	Sore Throat
Asthma	Dysentery	Jaundice	Stone and Gravel
Bilious Complaints	Erysipelas	Liver Complaints	Secondary Symptoms
Blotches on the Skin	Female Irregularities	Lumbago	Tic-Douloureux
Bowel Complaints	Fevers of all kinds	Piles	Tumours
Colics	Fits	Rheumatism	Ulcers
Constipation of Bowels	Gout	Retention of Urine	Venereal Affections
Consumption	Head-ache	Scrofula, or King's Evil	Weakness, from what ever cause
Debility	Indigestion

IMPORTANT TESTIMONIAL,

Copy of a letter from the late COLONEL HAWKER, (the well-known Author on "Lungs and Shooting.")

LONGPARISH HOUSE, near Whitchurch, Hants

SIR:—I cannot resist informing you of the extraordinary effect I have experienced by taking only a few of your LOZENGES. I had a cough for several weeks that defied all that had been prescribed for me; and yet I got completely rid of it by taking about half a small box of your Lozenges, which I find are the only ones that relieve the cough without deranging the stomach or digestive organs,

I am sir, your humble servant,
P. HAWKER.

To the Independent Electors of the City of Victoria.

GENTLEMEN,—YOU WILL SHORTLY BE called upon to exercise the most sacred rights of Britons, in selecting men of your own free will to manage your own local affairs, scrutinize and correct the course of Government, and adjust and impose taxation. While I feel that I have no especial claims to public support, I do claim, in common with my fellow citizens, that I have embarked my capital, brought my family, and expended some portion of my past energies here; and that in a new country like this I have a right to aspire to a position in the mangement of its public affairs. I do not seek any office of emolument—I have never done so, nor is such my aim now. I am content to earn my living independent of Crown patronage; but the honor of representing my fellow citizens is a distinction which any man might be proud of, and I aspire to that. I hold the equal rights of all men to be of the first importance in all cases of legislation, and know no distinction of creed, color, or country. Every colonist who has settled in this Colony as his future home, is entitled to equal privileges with his neighbor, and for such principles I will always contend.

Heaven has given us a fine climate, a good harbor, a natural position as the entrepot to a great part of Washington Territory and British Columbia; and in the present condition of American affairs so situated that with a FREE PORT and NO DEBT of any amount, we can supply a great share of the Pacific coast cheaper than they can possibly be supplied from elsewhere.

I am fully alive to the advantages we possess and it is my anxious desire to forward our interests, particularly railroad and harbor enterprises; to watch and guard against corruption and misgovernment; to see that equal rights and cheap administration are preserved; that law costs and lawyers are looked after, without permitting to them exclusive privileges or business monopolies; that the merchant, tradesman, mechanic and artizan is protected and supported; land granted free, or at nominal rates to actual settlers, with a view to encourage that important interest; speculators and land jobbers checked and frustrated, and that the all-pervading rule of Government officials, dabbling in mines, town sites and public lands, may be abolished.

There are many other public questions of great importance upon which I will speak hereafter, as they cannot be referred to within the limits of this address, but if you see fit to honor me with your confidence and support, you may rely that for neither inducements of office or patronage, no printing or other jobs will pass without exposure. And should it not be your pleasure to elect me, I will support cheerfully whomsoever you think fit to elect, so long as they follow a line of policy similar to that I have here laid down.

I have the honor to be Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
EDWARD BEATTY EARLES.
